DECATUR CHURCH OPENING UP BIG EDUCATIONAL CHAUTAUQUA THIS TUESDAY; LASTS TEN DAYS

The Antioch AME Church, Rev. G. C. G. Thomas, minister, Decatur, Georgia, will be the scene of the great religious and educational chautauqua, beginnng Tuesday evening, September 15, through Friday, September 25.

Some of Georgia's leading religious and educational perscnalities are expected to appear during the fine series of events. Many of the leading white citizens of Decatur have consented to take an active part in the affair.

The school of instruction is destined to give a broader outlook upon the intricate problems of life, accruing large intellectual dividends for the future life.

The offertory contest will consist of the following churches: Thankful Baptist, represented by Deacon Ebster; St. James Presbyterian, represented by Elder Plato Henderson; Lilly Hill Baptist,
